

Automatic Fund Transfers

Effective February 4, 2008, the DuPont savings plans will offer new investment choices and services to provide you with greater flexibility in investing for your future. To see how your current investments will transfer to a new lineup of funds specifically created for the DuPont savings plans, and what options you have available, review this document carefully.

Before the fund transfer takes place, you'll need to decide how you want your future contributions and current balance to be invested. An Open Election Period will take place from January 7 through 3 p.m. (ET) on January 25, 2008, during which you may change your investment direction for future contributions before the automatic fund transfer and/or elect to continue to hold eligible funds from the current investment menu.

How transfers to the Target Retirement Funds will work

If your assets will transfer to a Target Retirement Fund, as shown on the first page, determine what your age will be when the Open Election Period ends on January 25, 2008. Then, see the chart below to determine which Target Retirement Fund your applicable investment directions and/or holdings will transfer into.

70 or older	65-69	60-64	55-59	50-54	45-49	40-44	35-39	30-34	25-29	20-24	19 or younger
Income	Transition	2010	2015	2020	2025	2030	2035	2040	2045	2050	2055

If you do not make elections during the Open Election Period (with the exception of the DuPont Stable Value Fund, DuPont Stock, and ConocoPhillips Stock, which remain as is):

- Your current holdings will automatically transfer to corresponding funds from among the new investment choices.
- Your investment directions on record as of January 25, 2008, will automatically transfer to corresponding funds from among the new investment choices.
- You may still redirect your investment direction and account balance after the transition. However, you will no longer be able to elect to hold any of the eligible current funds.

Investing in mutual funds, which are intended as long-term investments, involves risk, including the possible loss of principal. Investments in foreign securities or sector funds, including technology or real estate stocks, are subject to substantial volatility due to adverse political, economic or other developments and may carry additional risk resulting from lack of industry diversification. Funds that invest in small- or mid-capitalization companies experience a greater degree of market volatility than those of large-capitalization stocks and are riskier investments. Bond funds have the same interest rate, inflation, and credit risks associated with the underlying bonds owned by the fund. Generally, the value of bond funds rises when prevailing interest rates fall and falls when interest rates rise. Investing in lower-grade debt securities ("high-yield" bonds) may be subject to greater market fluctuations and risk of loss of income and principal than securities in higher rated categories. There are ongoing fees and expenses associated with owning mutual funds. Bear in mind that higher return potential is accompanied by higher risk.
