Dear Fluoropolymer Solutions Customer,

On February 5, 2007, DuPont committed to no longer make, use, or buy PFOA by 2015. To date, we are encouraged with our progress toward this objective. In fact, we are pleased to report that beginning in 2008 commercial scale quantities of some fluoropolymer products made without PFOA will be available. This represents a significant milestone towards meeting our commitment. More importantly, it enables us to bring you innovative and sustainable solutions that meet your ever-changing needs.

We realize that the conversion to these new products made without PFOA will not be without complexity. It is important that you know that we will work closely with you, your customers, and regulatory agencies to develop integrated qualification and commercialization timelines. We recognize that in some cases, this may be a multi-year process. However, working together, we believe we can make these conversions well in advance of 2015.

In 2008, DuPont will celebrate the 70th anniversary of the discovery of fluoropolymers. As we reflect on that initial discovery, we see that only through true partnerships with our customers has an industry been built that impacts and enables so many critical applications. We remain committed to this tradition of partnership. With this in mind, it is with great optimism that we look to the future.

We will keep you informed as additional milestones are achieved. As always, thank you for your business. If you have any questions, please contact your DuPont account manager.

Sincerely,
