DuPont Professional Products hired Scott Parker as Midwest turf and ornamental sales representative.

Based in Kentucky, Parker's territory will span North Dakota through Ohio. Parker brings 10 years of sales experience to DuPont; he has also worked in the field as an assistant golf course superintendent. He graduated from the University of Kentucky with a bachelor's degree in agronomy and an emphasis in turfgrass management.

"We are excited to have such a proven sales representative joining our team, at a time when DuPont is introducing new products with unbeatable efficacy and environmental profiles," says Curtis Orrben, national sales manager for DuPont Professional Products. "Scott will play a key role in capitalizing on the strong interest in our products throughout the turf and golf industries."
