DuPont™ Sontara® wipes — engineered for the toughest demands of automotive refinish.

Jeff Gordon, DuPont Driver

Teamwork and preparation are the keys to winning results in automotive refinish. When you team up with the DuPont™ Sontara® SPS™ Surface preparation system, you've got the right wiping product for every stage of the refinish process. DuPont's unique hydro-entangling process uses thousands of high-pressure, needle-like jets of water to entangle the fibers into a Sontara® fabric that's strong and low-linting. And reducing sources of lint or loose fibers can minimize the potential for paint defects. With Sontara® SPS™, you get great performance from start to finish!

Engineered for Low-Linting

In this microscopic view, the Sontara® SPS™ Degreasing Cloth sheds virtually no fibers vs. the leading competitive surface preparation wipe. Fiber trapped in the paint film is a leading cause of paint defects.

Standard used was ASTM F51, Appendix, Section XI.

Better Performance From Start to Finish

Sontara® SPS™ wipes help you get the job done right the first time... without costly rework that can cut into your shop's profits and productivity.
