

Lakme Fashion Week'08 – showcase Tyvek® inspiration in Fashion

Two Talented fashion designers, Rajesh and Anirban created a bridal gown that can be converted into a dress and bed quilts. They were selected by the Lakme Fashion Week'08 out of 200 in India held in Mumbai, to showcase their designs and share platform with the industry.

In this event there was a special category for the designers "Go Green", where these designers were required to develop a creation which would spread the message of making this earth an eco-friendly, better place to live.

Rajesh and Anirban created this beautiful wedding gown by using DuPont™ Tyvek® material as outer shell for drapability and DuPont™ ComforMax® as insulation for warm and bounce feeling. These materials are recyclable and design of multi-usage was really creative. Without doubt they were the winners in this category!!!
